WE NOMINATE

Datus Clifford Smith Jr., 41-year old Director of the University Press and a Princetonian of two decades' standing, whose capacity for putting knowledge to work has made his organization a power to conjure with in the publishing world. Currently serving as President of the Association of American University Presses, Smith in the March "Atlantic Monthly" has tersely defined the philosophy of action which stamps him as an editor of the first rank: "keeping the faith means doing your best to serve society in the way that is your forte."

Since 1942, when he was named Director, the Press has done as much as any publishing-house in this country in communicating the results of scholarship to the general public. During his regime it has brought forth some 300 highly specialized works, topped by the celebrated "Smyth Report," one of the most surprising best-sellers of all time. The "atomic energy coup" was attributable to Smith who promptly grasped its significance and had the bound volume in the hands of retailers five short weeks after the Press had received the manuscript—a tremendous achievement.

A native of Jackson, Mich., and a one-time resident of Kinderhook, N. Y., Pasadena, Calif., and Blanchard, North Dakota, Smith completed his Princeton studies in 1929. Two years divided between the graduate managership of the University's Bureau of Student Employment and the assistant editorship of the "Princeton Alumni Weekly" preceded his appointment as editor of the "Weekly," which benefited immeasurably from his leadership for nine years.

Smith, a member of the Borough Board of Education and the only unopposed candidate among the 17 entered in the February school district elections, is essentially one of higher education's super-salesmen. While not shackled, like commercial publishers, with responsibilities to stockholders, he must successfully integrate seldom related scholarly and financial considerations, following up promising titles to the nth degree and yet paying careful heed to "saleless wonders" that may have profound effects upon tomorrow's thinking.

For seeking to close the yawning gap between "knowledge potentially useful and knowledge put to work;" for pioneering in the development of new techniques of manufacture, of particularized promotion and of sales distribution; for effectively demonstrating by personal example that the bromidic expression, "Town vs. Gown," means nothing in the Princeton of 1949; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

Topics of the Town

End of an Era. Dr. Charles R. Erdman, Jr., who has been mayor of Princeton for all but two years since 1936, advised the Republican Club this week that he would not seek re-election next Fall. Increasing pressure of business in his post as Commissioner of Economic Development was cited as the basis for his decision. In his place, the Republicans have selected P. MacKay Sturges of 50 Westcott Road. The Democrats, at TOWN TOPICS' press-time, had 24 hours to make good a promise of a full slate. Ability to do so would keep political interest at a high pitch for the next eight months.

The G.O.P. then matched Councilmen George R. Griffing and J. Dayton Voorhees against the Democrats' previously announced Dan D. Coyle and James R. Sloane. Thomas S. Dignan, currently managing the hospital campaign, is the Democratic choice for township committee. Township Republicans will do their preliminary campaigning as individuals rather than as an organization because of the impending primary split between incumbent John A. Stewart and John H. Wallace, Jr.

Vox Populi. Last month, when no protest had been made until just before the public hearing, parking meters were within 48 hours of becoming a reality. Today, they are months away.

Therein is the old but ever refreshing story of the voice of the people. Time may prove them wrong—as many members of the Traffic Committee freely admit—but their protest was heard and heeded, and a fleeting thought dealt sympathy to other people living behind an Iron Curtain.

Petitions bearing 1,178 signatures asked that the ordinance to install meters in the business district be tabled. Nearly 200 persons attended Tuesday's session in Borough Hall, most of them speaking against the proposal.

They asked for time, they urged acquisition of off-street lots and discussed means for financing such purchases. One plan advanced by Edmund D. Cook will get further scrutiny, possibly from the Planning Board into whose lap the entire problem has been tossed. Creation of a parking authority may follow, as will weeks of study and new surveys. It was hard to see how the matter could come before the public again before Fall.

Vol. IV, No. 1. This week, TOWN TOPICS begins its fourth year. Since March of 1946 it has expanded twice, is now 63 percent larger than the day it first appeared. Despite expansion, it is still turning away advertising each week to maintain the proper balance between advertising and reading matter.

It's New to Us

"Saucery." We might just as well admit from the beginning that we have neither seen nor tried this trouble-saver for the rushed housewife which is on its way to Bamman's, 10 Nassau. However, we are going on the thorough recommendation of a lady who bought it in New York, Bamman's itself and our own reaction to the whole idea, and we have no hesitation in saying it will be wonderful.

To enlighten you: "Saucery" is a base for sauce and gravy making which comes in cake form (apparently something like Baker's chocolate) and eliminates the need for butter, flour and a knack with cream sauces. You just break a piece off the cake, melt it and add stock, milk or whatever liquid you want, plus the seasoning you would normally use. We're sorry we can't give you details such as number of pieces in a cake, how much sauce each one makes, price (we're told it won't be expensive) etc. All we can say is that this "thickener" sounds terrific to a chronically poor gravy and sauce maker, should make a hit even with experts who like short cuts in cooking, and we couldn't wait another week to tell you about it.

Pajama Sets. Particularly fitted for school and college girls are these amusing and comfortable pajama and (if you can call it that) robe twosomes at Bert-Ann's, 230 Nassau. Nice quality cotton pajamas with short sleeves come in a solid and stripe combination—you can have your solid color either on top or bottom—and a matching striped three-quarter length short-sleeved nightshirt serves as a slightly laughable but becoming topper. The nightshirt buttons up the front and can be donned quickly for extra warmth or respectability, whether you're entertaining in —Continued on Page 7

Sports in Short

Promising Miler. Will the name of Ron Wittreich come to mean as much to Princeton sport fans as that of Bill Bonthron? It's no certainty at this point, but last weekend the former was clocked in 4:14.5 for an indoor mile, possibly the second fastest on the boards in Princeton history. Only a junior, Wittreich has a ways to go before he matches Bonnie's 4:07.6, the mark set in far-off July 1933 when he chased Lovelock to a new world mark in Palmer Stadium. But Wittreich has cut four seconds off his time indoors this winter and his performance at Boston last weekend is equal to about 4:12 on the cinders. He'll bear watching this Spring.

Right Down to the Tape. Although the odds with two games left to go were 10 to 1 against Princeton's meeting Yale in a playoff for the basketball title, the Tigers have at least carried the highly-favored Blue right down to the final week. If they trip Penn at the Palestra Saturday afternoon, they will rank with the Elis as the only teams in the circuit to conquer every other entry once.

Penn, however, is a much improved quintet over the team that was so thoroughly outclassed in losing to the Tigers, 65-52, here on January 5. It holds the lone victory scored over Yale at New Haven this season and has not been beaten in league play on its own court since Cornell turned the trick eight weeks ago.

Random Notes. The 11 goals scored by brothers Bill and Joe Riley in Dartmouth's 15-4 walloping of the Tiger hockey team Saturday will stand for some time as a Baker Rink record for a two-man combine, as will the seven goals the Indians registered in the second period . . . the swimming intercollegiates open here next Thursday, will run morning, afternoon & evening Friday and Saturday . . . Yale's domination of the tank circuit is becoming meaningless—with the material that arrives at New Haven each year, the Elis could enter two complete teams against any Eastern oppon-

News of the Theatres

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Return of October (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) is Technicolored hugger-mugger about a race horse suspected of being the reincarnation of someone's late Uncle Willie. Glenn Ford and Terry Moore are involved in the usual romancing, lovers' quarrels, thrilling finish at the race track and other slightly humdrum events.

Family Honeymoon (Sun. thru Wed.) is what Universal calls a wedding trip taken by newly-wed Fred MacMurray and Claudette Colbert, her three children by a former marriage and his ex-fiance. A comedy with frustrated romance as the theme, it's amusing here and there, sometimes noticeably thin.

South of St. Louis (Thurs., Fri., Sat.), all about three Texans who seek revenge for the burning of their ranch in Civil War days, has no end of hard-riding, fighting, but takes itself much too seriously. A sense of humor would have softened the mechanical ring. Joel McCrea, Alexis Smith, Zachary Scott.

THE GARDEN

Flaxy Martin (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) casts Zachary Scott as a young lawyer bedeviled by a mob of gangsters, framed by Virginia Mayo, loved by Dorothy Malone. There's not much to be said for either his tenacious existence or the picture that records it.

Unknown Island (Mon., Tues., Wed.), like "The Lost World" of 25 years ago, sends a party of adventurers to a land where huge and horrible prehistoric monsters still roam. Technicolor heightens the effect in a picture that is good of its kind. Barton MacLane, Virginia Grey.

He Walked by Night (Thurs., Fri., Sat.) sends police chasing a ruthless killer who has accounted for two of their number. Richard Basehart, Scott Brady in a film that has sufficient quantity of both action and suspense.

Continued growth is indicated, but irrespective of the future, TOWN TOPICS' two Christmas appeals are eminently satisfactory reflections of the past: total response to the pair of Yuletide messages has been some 425 gifts representing more than $2,200.

Our Avaricious Uncle. Fellow we know gave us a brief but lucid picture on tax trends in the last dozen years. Said he, a bit ruefully, "I'm now making about five times as much as I did when I started to work. I was single then —now I've got a family of four. My income tax this year is just 30 times what I paid in 1936."

Miscellany. Albert Einstein of 112 Mercer Street will observe his 70th birthday Monday . . . James V. Forrestal, National Defense Secretary, has denied the rumor, trumped up by windy columnists, that he will succeed Dr. Dodds as president of Princeton when he leaves Truman's cabinet March 31.

The Business & Professional Women's Club will stage its annual fashion show Monday, with clothes from the Princeton Fashion Center and costume jewelry by Zavelle's . . . the Little Gallery will open an exhibition Monday of the post-impressionist paintings of Vantyn, who "paints poems rather than pictures."

Pyramid Clubs (pay $1 to make a mythical $2,048 in 12 days) are operating here, as your telephone has probably told you, but not, Manager Elmer Dietz of the Telephone Company informs us, to the extent that added traffic is noticeable at night as in other cities . . . rumors of neighbors who won a bushel basket full of folding money will start any day now.

If just plain pajamas are all you want, either they or the nightshirt can be bought separately for $4. The pajamas come in blue, yellow and pink; the matching tops are stripes of those three colors so that you can't help having a good match whatever you buy.

Emerald-based Glassware. With warm weather more or less on the way, this attractive glassware should find its way onto many a table. Emerald in this case is a color, not a precious stone, which will be quite obvious when we tell you the prices!

There are three types of glass available, all with the cool green bases: 1) a narrow-bottomed tumbler which widens gracefully as it goes up; 2) a juice glass with the same lines; 3) a sherbert (or pudding) cup which is particularly appealing with its round, wide, low look. Prices for the three are $3.75, $3.25 and $5 for six at The Town Shop, 12 Nassau.

ent and win with either of them.

Spring football practice starts Monday under Charlie Caldwell's supervision . . . Bill Prior, counted upon to replace John Weber as the Tiger fullback next Fall, is also a good prospective shortstop for Emerson Dickman's Nassau nine but won't finish the basketball season until Saturday . . . George Sella could also play a lot of baseball but being an engineer wisely limits his activities to two sports and holds down a second group average in his department.

A VERY UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY!
A lovely, 115-acre farm and remodelled home have just come on the market. The charming house has four bedrooms, two tiled baths, two large fireplaces, paneled breakfast room and many other features you'll love. The barns and outbuildings are in excellent condition, the acreage is highly cultivated and income-producing. A good buy at any reasonable price but very unusual at $40,000.
